3.0 Employee Background Screening Product Description And Sample Reports

3.1 Driver History and License Verification

We provide employers with instant driving records on their employees through our online, web-based searchable database with the Department of Motor Vehicles. Our services cover all 50 states. Our software also makes it easy to re-screen your drivers. When you sign up for this service, we will provide you with a username and a password, at which point you can begin to use the service.

If your company has company vehicles, you should be running driver history reports on those employees that will be driving your vehicles. It's always a good idea to have personnel policies that reflect your company's position on moving and non-moving violations and suspension of a driver's license, operating with a suspended driver's license, etc. These policies should be part of your progressive discipline policies. It is a good policy to check your drivers every six months.

When you request a report, the report will contain all of the information that is provided by the state. The report will contain the driver's name, date of birth, driver license number, violations and convictions including information on traffic tickets and speeding tickets, penalties such as points, fines, suspensions, revocations and collisions.

So don't wait until you run a driver's license check only to learn that one of your drivers has been operating your company vehicle for 6 months with a suspended license. It only takes one driver with a suspended license to put your company at risk of a lawsuit.

3.3 CDL - (Commercial Driver's License) Instant Driving Records

We provide employers with instant driving records on Commercial Driver's License (CDL) through our online, web-based searchable database with the Department of Motor Vehicles. Our services cover all 50 states. Our software also makes it easy to re-screen your drivers for compliance purposes. When you sign up for this service, we will provide you with a username and a password, at which point you can begin to use the service.

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) mandates that employers are required to obtain a 10-year CDL employment history on all new hires, obtain a motor vehicle record from those states in which the driver held a CDL license during the previous three years.

With our Commercial Driver's License Information System (CDLIS) search, you will be able to ensure that you are in compliance. In addition, employers are required to obtain a drivers' motor vehicle record on each employed driver every 12 months and are prohibited from allowing any driver with a suspended license to operate a commercial motor vehicle.

All CDL driver records will contain all information that is on the drivers' record. Such as name of driver, license number, licensing state, license type, license class, class description, expiration date, issue date, other licenses, medical certificate status, medical issuing date, medical expiration date, medical examiner name. 3.4 Commercial Driver's License Information System (CDLIS)

The Commercial Driver License Information System is a federal clearinghouse and repository of commercial driver licensing data, this data comes from all 50 states. The goal of CDLIS is to ensure CDL drivers only have one state CDL driver's license. In the past drivers who had a problem on their driver's license would go to another state to apply for a new license.

The CDLIS retains records of a driver's current commercial license and up to three previous licenses. A CDLIS search will not provide a state driving record, such as suspensions or violations, it will only indicate the present jurisdictional state, driver's license number, name, DOB, social security number match, AKA information, and up to three previously held CDL numbers. By using this service, it will indicate what states you must run a driver license check (see CDL - (Commercial Driver's License) Instant Driving Records for employer mandate).

So, don't wait until you run a driver's license check only to learn that one of your drivers has been operating your company vehicle for 6 months with a suspended license. It only takes one driver with a suspended license to put your company at risk of a lawsuit. The monthly cost of this service $5.99 per driver. There are no other charges.

3.6 CDL Driver Pre-Employment Screening Program (PSP) Through FMCSA

We provide the commercial driver Pre-Employment Screening Program (PSP) through the Department of Transportation's, Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration's (FMCSA) program. The program helps carriers make more informed hiring decisions by providing secure, electronic access to a commercial driver's 5-year crash and 3-year inspection history from the FMCSA database.

We provide PSP records for conducting your pre-employment screening on your CDL drivers. By conducting a PSP on your new hires, you will make your company a safer company. The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) conducted a study to evaluate PSP's safety impact. The study results showed that companies regularly using PSP have, on average, reduced their crash rates by 8% and their driver out-of-service rates by 17%.

3.7 CDL Driver Pre-Employment Screening (PSP) Q&A

3.7.1 Q: What is the Pre-Employment Screening Program?

A: The Pre-Employment Screening Program (PSP) allows employers access to commercial drivers' safety records from the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration's (FMCSA) Motor Carrier Management Information System (MCMIS). Records are available 24 hours a day via our online network.

3.7.2 Q: What information does the Pre-Employment Screening Program (PSP) record contain?

A: A PSP record contains a driver's most recent 5 years of crash data and the most recent 3 years of roadside inspection data from the FMCSA MCMIS database. The record displays a snapshot in time, based on the most recent MCMIS data loaded to the PSP system. A new snapshot is uploaded approximately once per month.

3.7.3 Q: Why did FMCSA develop PSP?

A: Developing a system to make safety performance information electronically available for pre-employment screening purposes was mandated by Congress in the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, and Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users, Title 49 U.S. Code, section 31150 Public Law 109-59 Section 4117. FMCSA believes that making this driver data available to employers it will improve safety data and help employers make more informed decisions when hiring commercial drivers.

3.7.4 Q: How do companies enroll in the Pre-Employment Screening Program?

A: By filling out our application and faxing back we can get you enrolled within an hour.

3.7.5 Q: Who can request a PSP record?

A: Employers may request PSP records solely for the purpose of conducting pre-employment screening and only with the driver's authorization. Your driver must sign our authorization form.

3.7.6 Q: A driver had a roadside inspection recently, will that information be available on the driver's PSP record?

A: Data from the Motor Carrier Management Information System (MCMIS) is uploaded to the PSP system approximately once a month. This is a 'MCMIS data snapshot'. The date of the most recent MCMIS data snapshot is available on the bottom of your PSP record. Reporting times vary by state.

4.0 E-Verify (Employment Eligibility Verification)

National Employee Screening Services (NESS) is an approved Department of Homeland Security (DHS) E-Verify Employer Agent. We provide employers with their employee employment eligibility verifications. By using our service, it will reduce office staff hours during the hiring process and for the need for office staff from having to study and take the exams to use DHS E-Verify internet-based service.

E-Verify is an internet-based data system that is operated by the DHS. As your Employer Agent we will verify the employment eligibility of your newly hired employees and employees who hold temporary Work Authorization Cards or a Permanent Resident Card. You simply log into our internet-based system, key in the employees I-9 information and that's it. When processed, we will provide you with a DHS' work authorization code for that employee. You will then write it down on the employees' I-9 form.

If there are any discrepancies, we will contact you for the corrections. If the information that you provided is correct, the employee will then be required to contact DHS to correct the matter and is entitled to remain on the job. If the employee does not contact DHS or the employee does not wish to contest, the employer is then required to terminate the employee.

Photo matching is an important part of the employment eligibility verification process. When an employee is hired, by law the employee is required to present a photo ID when completing the I-9 form. Typically, the employee will present his/her driver's license as the photo ID.

However, if the employee presents a U.S. passport or passport card, or Permanent Resident Card or Employment Authorization Card you will need to fax that to us in order that we can compare it against the photo DHS displays during the E-Verify process. At present, employers operating under a federal contract are required to E-Verify their employees and in some states have passed legislation making it mandatory for certain businesses, other states require all employers use E-Verify.

5.0 Prior Employer Reference Check

One of the more involved tasks for an employer during the hiring process, is to perform a prior employer reference check on an employee applicant. This step is one of the most important steps in the selection process. Getting feedback from a prior employer on the employee applicants' past performance is a good indicator of future performance and the suitability of the employee applicant being placed in the position.

It is also a great means for determining the truthfulness of the employee's information that was stated on the employee's application and during the interview. However, anyone who has undertaken this task, will tell you it can be a nightmare getting in touch with a prior supervisor or someone in position who can give a reference. For this reason, many employers tend to opt out.

At National Employee Screening Services (NESS), we have been providing employers with employer reference check services for over 15 years. We understand the difficulties and we have developed strategies to obtain employer reference checks within a reasonable amount of time. We developed and ask past employers the kinds of questions that give employers the answers they need to make informed decision. We charge a reasonable flat rate, no matter how many times we have to call the same employer.

5.1 Educational History Verification

One of the more common areas of misrepresentation on a resume, occurs in the area of education. Many applicants have a tendency to embellish their academic achievements in order to meet the job requirements for the employment position in which they are applying for. The more common types of misrepresentation include the college or university attended, type of degree received, courses and whether they graduated.

Our specialist will contact the institution that granted the degree or certificate and will accurately verify all information supplied, provide dates of attendance, degree, major or program, and graduation date, if applicable. We can perform your educational history verification checks saving you time and money.

6.0 Employee Credit Report

Employers may only seek a credit report on an employee applicant when that employee will have access directly or indirectly to the company's finances (money). Such as bank tellers, delivery drivers who handle cash and checks, employees working in an accounting department, etc. Before obtaining a credit report, the employer should have in place a company policy that any employee within such job category will have a credit background check. This will eliminate any appearance of discrimination or bias. In addition, the policy should reflect what is considered a disqualifier.

When an employer plans to check the credit history of an employee applicant, the employer must follow the rules set out by the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA). The act requires the employer to obtain the employee applicant's written consent. That consent should be on a consent form separate from the employment application. The employer must inform the employee applicant before running the credit check and inform the employee applicant that employment is conditional, that it will be based on the report (As a good practice, you should hand the employee a copy of your company policy). If the employer does not hire the employee applicant due to his/her credit report, the employer is required to hand the employee applicant an official Adverse Action Notice.

Before you run a credit check on an employee applicant make sure that it is allowed in your state. At present seven states; California, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Maryland, Oregon, and Washington have passed laws prohibiting employers from running credit reports or limiting how employers may use them to make hiring or other job decisions. According to the National Conference of State Legislatures (NCSL), more than 20 states are currently considering similar legislation. To find out whether your state is among them, go to the NCSL's detailed chart on www.ncsl.org.

If the employer's state prohibits the employer from checking an employee applicant credit report or using their credit history in the employer's hiring decisions, you can't do it. Even though the federal FCRA allows employers to consider credit reports, state laws are more protective of employee rights and supersedes federal law.

6.1 County Criminal Records

A county criminal check will include any criminal behavior on an individual within a given county within that state. When the criminal record check is performed and a hit comes back, it will include; criminal charges, case numbers, the date of the offenses, disposition dates, and confirmation of convictions or non-convictions. If an employee has lived in two or three counties in his/her lifetime it may make sense to perform a county criminal in all counties. Most counties do provide an automated report retrieval system in which criminal reports are retrieved within a day. However, there are still counties that do not provide this service, in this case it can take as much as 5 business days. Most counties do charge a fee for this information, in most cases it's a nominal fee. The fee schedule is posted on our site. In general, we are able to go back 7 years.

6.3 Physical Exam

Physical DOT and Physical Non DOT

At National Employee Screening Services (NESS) we offer DOT Physical exams as well non DOT Physicals through our affiliated healthcare centers located throughout the 50 states. Due to the high volume of physicals conducted we are able to pass a cost savings onto our customers. Compare our prices with your current provider and you will see we can save you on your current costs.

Employers must ensure that their DOT (Department of Transportation) drivers have a physical exam and that the driver receives a medical examiner's certificate. The exam must be conducted every two years (24 months) by a licensed "medical examiner". The medical examiner may also issue a medical examiner's certificate for less than 24 months when it is desirable to monitor a condition, such as high blood pressure.

Once you are set up into our online system, you can login, provide the employee's information and the type of test you require and enter his/her email address and that's it. Everything is done electronically. The employee will be sent an email as to when and where the exam will be conducted. When the exam is completed, you will be sent an email as to the results. Our programs can be customized to meet your specific DOT or non- DOT exam requirements.

6.3.1 Credentialing

- Medical - Allied Health Re-Credentialing
- Medical - Initial Allied Health Credentialing
- Medical - Initial Physician Credentialing
- Medical - Physician Re-Credentialing

At National Employee Screening Services (NESS), we offer provider credentialing services to the healthcare industry, we are JACO and federal and state compliant. Without proper credentialing of your healthcare staff, provider reimbursement for medical services can be delayed and, even, denied by the insurance industry and through the states and federal government Medicare and Medicaid programs.

We verify credentialing information on doctors, nurses, physician assistants and your allied health personnel to ensure legitimacy and experience. We confirm all professional license credentials, report date of issuance, expiration date, suspensions, and disciplinary actions. We offer Initial Physician Credentialing, Physician Re-Credentialing, Initial Allied Health Credentialing and Allied Health Re-Credentialing.

Medical credentialing is a very thorough, time-consuming procedure. The length of the process depends on the applicant and the laws of the state where the medical facility resides. Credentialing on physicians tends to take much longer to investigate due to their licenses, completion of residency programs, authentication of services, and other qualifications that must be confirmed. We recognize credentialing is business critical for your operation and can take up a great deal of your human resources, let us handle your credentialing needs, we can save you time and human resources expense.

When the report is ready, our system will email you indicating that you may login to review the results.
- Use Quick App to automate your hiring process by sending prior employers a secure link to request DOT Compliant employment verifications on your drivers. A: In order to receive and view a credit report under the new regulations you must have a company with a business license, have a business checking account and a secure business office that is furnished with a filing cabinet that can be locked, a paper shredder and a company phone. - Employers must provide written notification that a background check will be performed.
- The applicants must give written permission for the record check to be performed.
- If disqualifying information is included in the report, before you take adverse action, you must give the individual a Pre-Adverse Action Disclosure that includes a copy of the individual's consumer report and a copy of "A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act".
- After you've taken an adverse action, you must give the individual notice orally, in writing, or electronically that the action has been taken in an Adverse Action Notice. It must include:
 - A) The name, address, and phone number of the vendor that supplied the report;
 - B) A statement that the vendor that supplied the report did not make the decision to take the adverse action and cannot give specific reasons for it; and
 - C) A notice of the individual's right to dispute the accuracy or completeness of any information the agency furnished, and his or her right to an additional free consumer report from the agency upon request within 60 days.
